HOME COMING HUGE SUCCESS!

WHY MOTHERS GROW GRAY

Mothers must be very delicate creatures, because every little tiny thing seems to make another hair grow gray. Why, just the other day, when my brother was trying to enter a "secret" drawer, and I shut the drawer on his fingers, I could swear I saw one of Mom's hairs turn gray, right before my eyes. Maybe it was because Mick yelled so loud he scared her, I don't know, but I'm convinced that mothers are also very nervous, because after Mick got in trouble she laid the blame on me!

I'm sure my brother has caused most of Mom's gray hairs. For instance a little while back, he hit me over the head with and broke, a tennis racket. I was only reading a letter from his girl friend out loud.

When I was very young, my brother and I had a few quarrels, but not bad ones. About the worst one was when he threw the scissors at me and hit me about an inch or two away from my eye. Isn't that terrible? I only crushed a couple of his fingers, gave him a few black eyes and bloody noses, and a cut in the (Cont. page 3)

EGGIE WRITES TO G.H.S.

To the Student Body of G.H.S. and the Blue Camas Staff of 1952:

While on leave last August I happened to be at Mr. and Mrs. Caine's residence when your 1952 Blue Camas's arrived. When I discovered you had dedicated your yearbook to me I really didn't know what to do or say. Mr. Caine said I turned white, Mrs. Caine said I turned red, I thought I turned purple. My sincere thanks to you for recognizing me in your Annual.

During my three years at G.H.S., there are many pleasant memories that I recall. Two, however, I shall never forget. One is when you dedicated your annual to me. The other is the night we won an overtime basketball game from Lewiston and the boys carried me off the floor. Thanks again for those memories.

My family and I are settled in Tucson, Arizona and like it very much. We have plenty of room and if ever any of you are traveling, look us up. We would be very happy to see all of you.

Best wishes to all of you and the (Cont. page 2)

A bit of excitement took place in Grangeville Friday, October 24, in the form of a Homecoming celebration. There was a parade at 11:30 Friday morning. It consisted of floats from every high school class, clubs, and many of the grade school classes. The F.H.A. won first prize. The Junior Class won first Honorable Mention for its float. Altogether, there were about 900 students in the parade. The National Guard also participated.

The Homecoming Football game with Lapwai was a success. With Grangeville scoring 14 to Lapwai's 12. At the half time, the Football captains, Tommy Eimers and Bill Wagner, crowned Marjorie Hauger as Homecoming Queen. As another halftime attraction the band put on a show. First they went into formation spelling the words "Hi Alum", then they formed a school house with the majorettes as children. The concluding formation was a spiral, which was beautiful to watch.

Friday night at 8:00 P.M. there was a Homecoming Dance. Altogether the day was a thoroughly enjoyable. We hope to have a bigger and better celebration next year.

Doctor: "Didn't you see 'Poison' written on the bottle?"

Patient: "Yes, but I did not believe it, because right underneath it it said 'Lye.'"

New boy: "I'm a little stiff from rowing."
Team Captain: "I don't care where you're from. Get in there and play 2nd base."

GRANGEVILLE WINS

HOMECOMING GAME

Grangeville won there homecoming game from a smaller but aggressive Lapwai club 14-12. The Bulldogs are still second place in the North Central Idaho 11-man high school football league topped only by Genesee Grangeville scored in two long drives ended on short runs by Glen Johnson and Tom Eimers. Grangeville did all there scoring in the second quarter. Gwynn Smith kicked two conversions to near the margin for victory.

Lapwai's first score came on a nine yard run by Ellenwood. Then in the last quarter Lapwai took to the air. A long drive ended when Wilson passed to Eggers for the touchdown. The try for extra points were both missed.

What's that lump on the front of your car?"

"Oh, the radiator just had a boil!"

SAV !!

What if Richard Willey was Captain of the football team.

What if Jane Heron had black hair?

What if Bonita Becker lost her voice?

What if Sharon Rupe (Republican) and Deloris Chicane (Democrat) were political pals?

Is it true that Roy Powell has a Chauffeur's license? If not, why???????

What if Tom Vopat had to walk clear to school every day?

Is it true that Don Kissinger is planning on getting a "poodlecut?"

BULLDOGS BEAT POTLATCH 13-19

The Bulldogs had to come from behind to beat Potlatch. Grangeville overcome a halftime deficit of 7-13 last Thursday, October 16.

Grangeville scored in the closing minutes of the 2nd quarter with Tom Eimers going over for the score. Johnson kicked the conversion.

Frank Housladen and Glen Johnson went over for the winners in the 3rd and 4th quarters.

Johnson kicked the other conversion, one was missed on a quarterback sneak. Potlatch scored both of their touchdowns in the first half.

Marjorie Hauger--run from it

Carol Hart-----squeeze it real tight

Lavonne Everest---take it with her

Pat Gauss--Ask it if it's Democrat or Republican

Robert Battenhoff---Shoot
it

Jimmy Glenny--Run from it

Gwynn Smith--Throw a rock
at it

Jerry Reynolds----Kill it

Clyde McReynolds-Probably run

George Shira-----Spend it

Ernie: "My uncle can play piano by ear."

Gurney: "That's nothing, my uncle fiddles with his whiskers!"

Mom: "Willie, sit down and tell little sister a story."

Willie: "I can't. I just told pa a story."

knife which got infected. You've got to admit my brother caused most of Mom's gray hair.

Mothers are also very irritable. Mick threw a tomato at me at dinner last night and, boy, was she mad. I don't know why because the tomato missed me and hit the wall.

Then there was the time at church when I thought the preacher was getting boring, so I put a tack on the lady's seat in front of me, when we were singing. Boy, things sure weren't boring after that! I remember when the word got out that I did it, what a terrific spanking I got.

One explanation for Mom's gray hair must be because she, at one time, was a school teacher. That must have been rugged, for I know how mean some kids can be. I remember her telling me of some boys putting girl's braids in ink bottles and some girls putting gum in boy's hair.

After reviewing these little incidents, I am beginning to see why mothers have gray hair. If mothers just didn't have children around, the gray hairs would disappear, I guess, but the joy in life would also disappear. After all, I think gray hair is rather becoming. Don't you???????
